BUDERIM GINGER Cooking School

Special
Events

The Buderim Ginger Cooking School is the perfect venue for your next team-building session. Our Corporate Classes have been specially designed to combine all the ingredients that will leave your team refocused, refreshed and very well fed.

Our Corporate Classes begin with a single goal – to create the meal that the group will consume, banquet style just like one big family.

First up is a demonstration from Buderim Ginger's executive chef which teaches the more intricate skills needed to complete each part of the menu.

The group then divides into small teams, each with their own workstation and the task of preparing their meal for the evening. Recipes, utensils, ingredients and a brief running sheet are provided for each group. Team members must assign tasks, share equipment, collaborate on presentation and adhere to a time limit in order to achieve their common goal ... DINNER!

The essential ingredients of teambuilding contained in one activity including:

- Listening and communication
- Following instruction
- Assigning tasks
- Collaboration and decision making
- Meeting timelines

Plus many more brought together with a lot of fun and a tiny bit of competitive spirit, all in a social environment.
